Troy Schneidenbach is fighting for survival.

He needs our help!

Troy was born to Josh & Carly (Nield) Schneidenbach on Jan. 20th, 2015 with a very rare condition called Apert Syndrome.

Troy will be facing over 20 surgeries during his lifetime as well as possible physical and speech therapy. Troy will need specialized treatment requiring travel to experts that can handle his medical needs. Troy has already had an open heart surgery and will be facing his second surgery in a few short months.
